2022—Light in the Midst of Crises Subliminal Contradiction and Deferred Closure

Whether from the establishment media or the alt-media, most of the news today is, on one level, not very encouraging, and, on another level, often contradictory and without closure. Some of the alt-media platforms hold up the name of Jesus and rightfully say that this evil will be defeated, with some offering prophecies to this effect; however, many of these same sites maintain their viewership with a constant barrage of all the bad that is going on. All of this is quite taxing on the human psyche, resulting in a multitude of symptoms, such as fear, anxiety, anger, frustration, hopelessness, faithlessness, irrational behavior, delusion, to name some. Let's face it, at some level, even if it is a small level, all of us are affected in some way by this.

However, those that are least affected are those who hold to the faith of Jesus, the hope of the King in us, and the love of God. We must not follow the crowd stuck in the current world system. Rather, we must remain alert to what is going on in the world without fear getting hold of us. Better yet, we must lay hold of the mind of Christ and know that the Father loves us and that there is no fear in love; but perfect love casts out fear, because fear involves punishment, and the one who fears is not perfected in love (1 John 4:18).

As I have shared, well before the pandemic of fear, which has played out for the last two years, I saw that, right from the start, the 21st century has been punctuated by the ancient tactic of fear, as catalogued in 21-Year Cycle 2000-2021. Little did I (or most anyone else) know at the outset that the hallmark of the closeout of this period would be fear and anxiety on a scale not seen globally, at least since WW2. Fact of the matter is that it probably has exceeded WW2, since every nation on earth has been impacted nearly simultaneously. Stated another way: the 21st century began in fear (i.e., Y2K, 9/11) and it rose up like a tsunami until it hit the shores of practically all the nations in early 2020 and has continued to crest even to this very day in 2022. Unfortunately, based on the data that is now coming to light across the globe, there may be another wave of fear, probably accompanied by anger, coming when people realize how much they have been lied to on practically every front by their governments and those tied to them.

There was something else that caught my attention practically at the start of the pandemic in early 2020. My educational and professional background and experience is in science, having earned a Master of Science in Public Health with a specialty in air pollution and industrial hygiene (occupational health). You could say I was primed to analyze the situation, especially what we were being told by the establishment. Much of what I heard (and continue to hear) made little sense. As I considered the plethora of information coming from the mainstream media, I was astounded by the many contradictions that were being told the masses and how nothing was ever brought to closure. In the beginning, for months, we heard every day that they were learning new things about a supposed natural virus. The new things were all over the map, as if this thing is so different and so unique that it possesses a bit of everything under the sun. And nothing has changed along these lines as 2022 begins.

Now, we have the many contradictions about the latest so-called omicron variant and the constant mantra of how effective the gene-therapy injections are in spite of the growing evidence (data) revealing a mounting number of adverse reactions and deaths. Leading doctors and virologists, that actually look at and analyze the data, have been warning how dangerous the injections are and urgently calling for a halt to their use. And don't get me started on the masks, a subject I know something about, having managed respiratory protection programs in the industrial setting. I just saw an article saying people need to stop wearing the cloth masks, which have been the poster child of protection for two years, in spite of scientific studies showing that their effectiveness in the public setting is minimal. Fact is that most real studies have shown little benefit, except, perhaps, to change behavior. But here's the kicker: this article said that the cloth masks don't work because omicron is a tiny particle and the masks won't catch it. I've got news for the world—so is delta, alpha and all other viruses; they're all tiny particles that easily go through most masks not designed to capture submicron particles.

There were many times over the last two years I began to write about these contradictions, along with their misguided information and outright lies, but I never finished any of it because the message of Jesus Christ is far more important and I didn't want to wander (and still don't) from this message. Well, I'm doing some of this here. Thankfully, there are a lot of web sites out there today that are exposing all of this and more, for those who still have rational, thinking minds that seek for truth.

The point is that three things have punctuated the last two years: the heightened level of fear and anxiety, the massive number of contradictions being fed to the masses, and the lack of closure on anything related to covid. It's as if everything about this pandemic has been purposely left hanging in the air, so to speak, so no one can come to a logical conclusion or factual understanding of what is truly going on.

Question is: How did we get to this point? Incompetence? Intellectual laziness? To assume that those who are repeatedly re-elected or appointed to various positions (like a revolving door) in officialdom are always the best and the brightest—as in people that actually know what they're doing and do it out of pure motives to serve the people—is a serious mistake. If anything, the pandemic has exposed the height, the depth, and the width of officialdom's incompetence, intellectual laziness, and moral/ethical paucity. Why people like this are allowed to remain in positions of authority is a whole other topic. Conspiracy to deceive the masses? Are the very ones who are trying to silence what they call mis-dis-information and conspiracy theories the true conspirators? More and more investigators searching for the truth are exposing the lies and deceptions of the very ones calling for censorship of anything that contradicts their narrative. This is an undeniable fact! Psychosis? Is the world populace suffering a mental illness? Although the propagandist fact checkers are saying there is no proof of any psychosis, those that have studied the subject say otherwise. Observation alone would lead one to agree with the latter.

There are a good number of articles and video interviews proposing that what has been happening among the masses, particularly here in the US, over the last two years could be explained as mass delusional psychosis or mass formation psychosis. The former has been proposed by Dr. Mark McDonald, psychiatrist and medical legal expert; the latter by Dr. Mattias Desmet, a Belgian psychologist, statistician, and theory professor, and recently elaborated on by Robert W Malone MD, MS. The curious can check out these links.

However, I propose that these psychoses are not limited to the general masses, for it appears that these mental disorders permeate multiple levels of society, at least in part, to include the professional ranks of science, medicine, public health, government and its politics, corporations, institutions, and media. It's quite possible that many in these ranks are not privy to the global conspiracy or the non-kinetic warfare being waged against the people; they are simply infected with a delusional psychosis—one that, unfortunately, has led to totalitarian, lawless and censorial actions on the part of those with some level of authority within society. It should go without saying that some within these same ranks are not only privy to what's going on, especially the World Economic Forum's drive for a global reset, but are also part of the conspiracy to bring it to fruition. It is quite clear that the Build Back Better, failed administration of Biden is part of this conspiracy against we the people. Spiritually speaking, this is a sign of what happens when God's will is of no concern among the ruling class.

Well, moving on: there is another way to look at what has been occurring with the mind of the masses that has not surfaced in most media; one I find quite compelling in explaining what's going on today. It's called subliminal contradiction and deferred closure.

These were new terms to me, as they probably are to many. When I saw them, without reading any explanation of the terms, I immediately made the connection to what we Americans have been subjected to for the last two years, namely, the multitude of contradictions and lack of any closure, referred to earlier.

I learned of these terms through J.R. Nyquist, in his November 30, 2021 blog, The Metaphysics of Social Engineering, where he introduces a book by Charles Upton—poet, metaphysician, and Sufi Muslim—titled The Alien Disclosure Deception—The Metaphysics of Social Engineering. Since I was given a word about a metaphysical crisis, the title naturally caught my attention.

By the title, it is true Upton’s book is about aliens and UFOs—which he believes are sourced in demons and not ETs from outer space—but it is much more than this as he proposes how our government has socially engineered the topic to prep the mind of the masses to bolster a much more nefarious agenda that seeks to destroy Christianity and democracy. His proposition is that “the military and intelligence establishment are unable to explain or control the phenomena or make it go away, so their next best thing is to use it to shift the paradigm of American society away from Christianity and democracy and toward transhumanism and Luciferian technology.”

Regarding UFOs, Upton proposes that the government has employed the tactics he calls subliminal (subconscious) contradiction and deferred closure—a planned psychological tactic against the American public. Whether one agrees with his proposition or not, what is striking is how we can see the very same tactics being used over the last two years that have generated the pandemic of fear and now a pandemic of cases driven by the insanity of repeated testing for a milder form of the virus, especially among the vaccinated. In our area, people line up and wait for hours, sitting in their cars, just to get a test that is fraught with false positives. People have lost all sense of rational thought.

To the observant, the connection to the pandemic of fear and cases should be obvious, as the masses have been subjected to a concerted effort to keep everything in the greatest state of flux as possible to keep feeding the fear and alter their thinking, priming them to acquiesce to totalitarianism, especially the mandates to get jabbed with an experimental gene therapy, and now to be repeatedly tested. Two years later, it is becoming more apparent by the day that indeed there has been and continues to be a concerted effort to deceive—a true conspiracy! To make matters worse, we are witnessing a level of incompetency, ignorance, fear, and blind acquiescence to incompetent authority not seen before in our modern era.

In his blog, Nyquist insightfully claims these same psychological warfare tactics have been used against the American people not only during the pandemic but also during the ongoing Russian narrative. The tactic is to flood the mind with contradictions on any given topic and not allow the mind to come to closure on the matter. Referring to contradiction and deferral, JR says that “each is designed to attack the human mind’s need for rational closure.” Here is more from his blog.

The people who gave us postmodern philosophy, therefore, were not benefactors of humanity but malefactors; and subliminal contradiction is not only intrinsic to these reigning academic concepts, but presently animates our elite institutions of government and science. For example, we were told that the so-called vaccines used against COVID-19 are safe and effective. If so, then how could they be “experimental”? We are also told that the unvaccinated are a threat to the vaccinated. How is that possible if the vaccines are effective? These contradictions are followed by the fact that the definition of the word “vaccine” had to be changed because the so-called vaccines are not vaccines. Furthermore, we are told that the vaccines will be strictly voluntary, only to learn that they are mandatory for tens of millions of people. Government policy supposedly exists to enable the healthcare system, yet government policy is wrecking that very system as doctors and nurses quit their jobs to avoid becoming test subjects. At the outset, we were promised that a couple weeks of lockdowns would “flatten the curve of the pandemic.” But the lockdowns continued for months as the curve went up. We were told the vaccines would end the pandemic, but the pandemic has only worsened as the vaccines were deployed – with more deaths since vaccination than before vaccination.

Here is a campaign of subliminal contradiction and deferred closure at work. Nobody is allowed to consciously acknowledge all these contradictions. We simply move through them, with no closure. The media and government do not draw the proper conclusions. The crisis continues as people die in ever larger numbers, as the healthcare system nears collapse, as economic exhaustion sets in. The government’s reaction to the pandemic has been, from first to last, a singular instance of psychological warfare directed against the citizen body. The only thing we do not understand, as yet, is why.

Although the full depths of the why might still be hanging out there, light is beginning to shine more and more on some of the answers. For one, we do know that the World Economic Forum has not been hiding its agenda—in fact, they advertise it, even employing Anthony Fauci in one of their video ads. Also, the Marxists are in a full-court press to change the world with their failed ideology. Some want one single, united answer; however, the most likely scenario is that it is wrapped up in complexities with competing and collaborative agendas in play. In thinking about this, three words came to mind: money, madness, and motive.

First, money is always in play and we know that the love of money is the root of all sorts of evil. This kind of idolatrous love leads to madness.

Second, there is a delusional madness among those at the top tier of the global society who have their own brand of psychosis that manifests as a god-complex. They look down upon the masses as ignorant, for only they know what's best. One thing they definitely fear (yes, they have fear) is populism, which at its core is about supporting the rights and power of the people in their struggle against the privileged elite, including the political class. For an example, see: John Kerry Says Great Reset is Needed to Stop Rise of Populism – Summit News. Simply, people are becoming disenfranchised by those in power who are long on promises and short on action to enact the promises.

Third, this leads back to Nyquist's why—the motive. It appears that 2022 is the year in which the motives are going to surface more and more and the eyes of the world opened to the truth. Light is going to shine on this darkness, and it will no longer be allowed to exist, even in the shadows. Just consider the madness to get everyone injected (the WHO wants to get 70% of the entire global population jabbed during 2022). How long will it take before people start questioning why people are dying after being jabbed, or why there are over 300 healthy athletes who have been stricken on the field with heart attacks, a third of them dying, or why the jabbed are experiencing omicron at a higher rate than the unjabbed?

In the early stages of the pandemic, Dr. Luc Montagnier, Nobel Laureate and virologist, warned that the vaccines would create the variants within the vaccinated. Recently, a well-known actress questioned how she could have contracted omicron after receiving three shots and doing all the “right things” as commanded to do by CDC? Perhaps Montagnier answers her question. (She is not alone, for it has been recently reported that five more high-profile figures that pushed the shots, including the boosters, now have covid.)

So, what are we to expect in 2022 as we pass through the metaphorical cosmic cloud proposed in the last insight? It appears the answer is two-fold.

First, given all that I have been shown over several decades and much more (as seen by many others), it appears that we will continue to pass through this dark cloud well into 2022 that is shaping up to be a year of crises. For me, it's a wait and see which ones manifest this year, but it appears the list of possibilities is quite long.

It is a sure thing that the governments across the globe, by and large, are utter failures as they are responsible for the troubles the world is now facing. A witch's brew of nefarious agendas (conspiracies), self-interests, psychoses, incompetence, intellectual laziness, and moral ineptitude is on full display. Recently, a US congressman stated that the Biden presidency has been a failure on every level. (Note page 2 of Fog Lifted.) The governments of the world are responsible for protecting their people, but it appears that they are seemingly out to protect themselves. Going along with this are the many institutions initially set up to serve the people—having been infected with corruption—no longer do so. Like governments, these institutions now serve themselves and their self-interests. Adding to this list are the so-called religious institutions that might be infected, as well.

Second, are the masses beginning to wake up to these realities? If and when they do, will it be a loss of public confidence in government? If so, how will this play out? However, there does seem to be an awakening, perhaps not of the masses at the moment, but of a remnant, to use a biblical term, that is growing. A number of sites are saying that, on the other side of this pandemic (better called a casedemic), we must rebuild the world as a better place. Of course, this leads to the question of how this will be done, what this will look like, and who will do it.

As an aside: Don't be surprised if some public officials and high-profile figures begin to jump ship, so to speak, or pivot away from the mainline narrative as they see major cracks forming in this narrative, not so much out of an awakening but out of a need for self-preservation. There are many lawsuits being filed across the US to get the facts out there and a move out of Europe to hold court against the individuals who have committed crimes against humanity. Hopefully, any number of successes along these lines will begin to crack the global conspiracy wide open. If this happens, to be sure, certain echelons of this tyranny will be running for cover, perhaps even excusing themselves as if they did not know or had been deceived; all to protect themselves from the repercussions that will follow if and when the truth is revealed. On the other hand, it's highly likely officialdom will claim they have been following the science and this is where their "science" has led them, as if to give themselves the cover of innocence. Going along with this, the mainstream data and narrative will probably shift toward an end to the pandemic right in time for the mid-term elections. Of course, we should not rule out some new crisis (real or contrived) that will serve as a distraction and a means to move on to another narrative entirely. Be alert!

The bottom line is that we need a new world order of God's doing, not man's doing, and this order is called the Kingdom of God or the Kingdom of the Son of God's love. Whether the structures of man continue to gradually crumble or a point comes where they all go down in one fell swoop, we can be sure of one thing—they most definitely will crumble, making way for God's kingdom of righteousness, peace, and justice. This is the light that is shining on the other side of the cosmic cloud.

With this in view, if you haven't noticed, at the end of 2021, I began posting articles on the Kingdom of God and, Lord willing, I will continue to do so as the spirit of the Lord gives insight. At the moment, I feel like the pause button has been hit in this regard, so I keep studying the matter and waiting. (There may be fewer postings as we start the new year, so please check in periodically.)

One thing I know: the world in which we live today is built upon a foundation of domination—the control and power over one another. This has been on full display over the last two years; however, this is nothing new to the human race, as it has ebbed and flowed throughout governments (kingdoms, nations, states, cities) and institutions since the beginning of recorded history. Domination has robbed humans of their liberty time after time. We are in such a day.

The antidote for domination is the Kingdom of God for it is about serving one another out of love, not about domination over one another.

Those of us who have been invited into God's own kingdom and glory have the love of God shed abroad in our hearts through His spirit. We have been made kings and priests to serve, not to lord over. This is what reigning on earth with King Jesus is all about. We are to bring healing and life to others. I continue to process along these lines, so perhaps this will be the topic of a future insight.

A new day is dawning. Let us not get caught up in the psychosis of the day or be concerned with the many contradictions without any closure. Jesus is no contradiction and, as the Alpha and the Omega, He is our full closure.

Let us be apprehended by our Lord, Savior, and King who is the Life-giving Spirit, and not by the spirit of the world. Rejoice in the glory of the victorious good news of King Jesus!

Collectively, we are the body of Christ and, as such, we have one spirit, the spirit of truth that will steer us through these turbulent times. Now is the time for the great awakening of our true identity in Christ. The Lord has been preparing a vessel of His choosing that He is beginning to send forth as His anointed—those who will manifest His Presence and glory to a world that is enshrouded in darkness. The Anointing and the Presence are one.

May this be a special year of love, life, light, and peace for all in King Jesus!
