September 18—Trouble (Observation)

There is something rather curious about the date September 18 that is linked to the word trouble. I have previously shared on a dream and a word that came to me in 2012 about trouble, starting with the financial Panic of 1873 that began on September 18, leading to a four-year depression. In turn, I was led to September 18, 2008, at which time the global financial system went into panic mode as it nearly crashed. I encourage you to read the following insights explaining these events.

Now, fast forward 147 years from the trouble of 1873 and we arrive at another troubling event. Ruth Bader Ginsburg died on September 18, 2020—thus, setting off a political firestorm, more like a political war declared by the left side of American politics that is manifesting a derangement unseen in our history as they are determined to stop the right side from appointing a conservative judge. They are in panic mode. It's so bad that they have even suggested impeachment of the president. So, mark September 18, 2020 on your calendars with the word trouble, for we have entered into a whole new level of trouble or, if you will, danger. We have entered a crisis of government fueled by ideology and absent ethics!

There are two other observations I must highlight.

First, September 18, 2020 is the eve of the Feast of Trumpets, which begins a new year, according to the Hebrew calendar. As stated in several writings, this is the beginning of the year 2021 that runs to September 7-8, 2021. As the worst year of the 21-year cycle, the word trouble is written over the next twelve months. Just as there were panics in 1873 and 2008, so are we in one—the Panic of 2020-21.

Second, perhaps there is some significance to the 147 years; after all, it is a factor of 7 times 21. Is it a coincidence that the number 21 appears along with the number 7 as we start the 21st year of the 21st century? I wonder!

The question is: How will this 21-year cycle end, and what is on the other side? We will know soon enough, especially as we arrive at Wednesday, September 8, 2021.

Finally, I want to leave you with some excerpts from what came to me on November 27, 2012 through the above dream on a wave crashing on a white rock. Again, for more, please check out the link.

The waves of trial and testing are coming upon America and the world unlike any experienced before. They will intensify until I come. Hold fast your confidence. Do not be moved. Testify of My kingdom. Endure; the promise is coming! I am coming and I will not delay. Live by faith. Do not shrink back.

Look not to the left or the right. Straight is the way for the one who is making ready the way of the Lord, for the one crying out in the wilderness. Cry out, 'The kingdom of our Lord is coming.' Do not be moved.

Henceforth, your path is My path. You are on My highway in the wilderness. People will come to you in the wilderness. It must be so because the city is filled with every form of evil and unclean spirit. Great deception and confusion and lies and evil fill the city. Blindness abounds. Corruption and defilement prevail.

Is there any doubt that this is the very moment in world history? As for America, evil has beset it! But don't lose sight of this one fact: what the world is experiencing is of God; it is His judgment in play as He readies the earth for a new world order based on righteousness, justice, peace, and love. It is the order of the new creation.

The good news is that the spirit of the Lord is coming in great power and authority as He is manifested in His people, the ones called the conquerors, for they are victorious through Him who loves us. These are the ones on the King's highway in the wilderness! Soon there no longer will be a wilderness journey.

Rejoice, the King is coming! Make ready the way of the Lord!
