America—The Lord God is Our Salvation (Commentary)

On the first day of September, I inquired of the Lord for a scripture relevant to our day. Immediately, I was led to Jeremiah 3:23. There is general agreement among biblical commentators that there is some difficulty in translating the first part of this verse. After reviewing many translations, I've come up with this compilation:

Truly the hills are a delusion [deception, falsehood], tumult [orgies] on the multitude of mountains—where we worshipped idols and made loud noises, but it was all in vain, all for nothing—there was no salvation. Truly in Yahweh our Elohim [the LORD our God] is the salvation of Israel [only you can save us]. (Jeremiah 3:23 compilation)

A day came when, after ancient Israel had spent their days in the hills and mountains of their land worshipping idols, they realized it had been all for nothing. All their noise and orgasmic partying with the idols of their making was nothing but a great delusion, a deception and falsehood. Instead of saving them, it left them in bondage to their flesh.

Leading up to their confession, the Lord had already spoken to them through Jeremiah.

“Then I said, ‘How I would set you among My sons and give you a pleasant land, the most beautiful inheritance of the nations!’ And I said, ‘You shall call Me, My Father, and not turn away from following Me.’ “Surely, as a woman treacherously departs from her lover, so you have dealt treacherously with Me, O house of Israel,” declares the LORD. (Jeremiah 23: 19-20 NASB)

The sons of Israel had perverted their ways; they had forgotten the Lord their God; they had not obeyed the voice of the Lord; they had become faithless sons that needed healing of their egregious ways. Once awakened to their condition, in their shame, they returned to the Lord their God with weeping and supplication. America is very much like ancient Israel; more so than most realize.

In 2019, I posted an article titled America-Wake Up! that looks at our history from the perspective of the migration to North America of descendants of the ancient sons of Israel and how we have forgotten our heritage. Here I suggested that America is an Israelite nation. For some this is controversial and to many it is totally unknown (and for me, the article could use some updating). It was written to challenge and enlarge our thinking by suggesting that there could be far more to the history of America that reveals God's hand in raising up what we presently call the United States of America.

Today, America is very much like the ancient sons of Israel with two exceptions—as a nation we have not repented of (turned from) our egregious ways, and we do not recognize the Lord Jesus as our salvation; many things have taken His place from government to ideologies. Rather than the Lord being our only salvation, we continue to trod down the same destructive road that has brought great darkness on the land we call America the Beautiful. Have we not been blessed with pleasant land, the most beautiful inheritance of the nations that is an envy of the nations of the world? Why do we think so many people want to come to America? Look at what we have done to destroy our inheritance—that which was given to us by the grace of our loving God through our forefathers. As Isaiah would say: we are sick from the whole head to the toe; the whole heart of the nation is faint (see Isaiah 1:5-6).

Our once youthful nation is now in its twilight years, the years before its death. People often call the years of one's retirement the golden years—that is, unless one becomes decrepitly old and senile. This is where the US is at this moment in history and the president of the US is a sign of the nation's senility. To repeat, president Biden is a sign.

President Biden's handlers are working diligently to hide what is becoming painfully obvious by the day that he has diminished cognitive skills and loss of memory. Of course, they are trying to hide this purely for political reasons to the detriment of the nation, meaning they don't really care for we the people nor do they really care that the man needs to step out of public office. Isn't this elder abuse? Who are these handlers anyways?

Each day families face a similar situation; something my wife and I know something about. A loved one begins to fade; first there is denial on the part of the person and their family; then it becomes painfully so that the person is on a dramatic downward slope as their loss of memory and cognitive skills can no longer be ignored.

Looking beyond the man that is supposed to be the leader of the free world who instead has become a tyrant, Joe Biden is a sign of the overall condition of the United States itself that is in its twilight years, not its golden years. The nation has become senile, having forgotten the Lord God that called us forth and blessed us as a nation. In fact, we are in denial as a nation. We are unable to face reality and, like one with dementia, we have become irritable and angry. We have forgotten who we are and from whence we have come. Instead of our golden years being glorious, they have become dark years.

Egregiously, we have failed to educate each generation—especially those of the late-20th and the 21st century—of our great heritage in God. Historical memory has faded, if not rewritten by a younger generation that has drunk from the well of failed ideologies because of what the institutions have taught them.

Consider the praises of King David in light of the generations.

I shall exalt You, my Elohim the King; Let me bless Your Name for the eon and further.” In every day I shall bless You; Let me praise Your Name for the eon and further. Great is Yahweh, and praised exceedingly, and as to His greatness there is no fathoming.” May one generation laud Your works to another generation, and of Your masterful deeds may they tell.” On the honor glorious of Your splendor and the words of Your marvelous works let me meditate. (Psalms 145:1-5 CLV)

As a nation, we have failed to praise the works of God from one generation to the next. Do we recognize or have we ever truly recognized that our greatness is all from the Lord and that our boast is in the Lord, and Him alone? And when the word Lord is used, I mean the one true Lord of lords whose name is Jesus.

This is particularly acute among our leaders and educators, and this does not exclude those of the multi-media church. How often do so-called leaders praise the Lord publicly for the great things and masterful deeds He has done for this nation? Instead, there is a lot of public boasting of the so-called American dream and American exceptionalism, along with politicians and so-called faith leaders closing out their speeches with the perfunctory God Bless America. What so many fail to realize is that asking God for a blessing also requires a response; it requires that we turn from our sins. See: In God We Trust (page 3).

Returning to Jeremiah’s exhortation: biblically, mountains can signify large nations and hills smaller ones. Together, they can signify government with the mountain being a nation and the hills being governments within the nation. For the United States, the Federal government is the mountain and the state and local governments the hills.

The sad truth is that, like the ancient sons of Israel, the majority of Americans have put their faith in the mountain and its hills, electing into office the same flawed men and women election cycle after election cycle, all the while looking for salvation from them. More succinctly, they have put their faith in a political system that has become very much like a religion that offers them salvation. The question is: saved from what and for what? The answers are many, for there is no one cohesive doctrine uniting all together. Instead, there are a multitude of doctrines (isms, ideologies) driving this hydra-type religion.

Unfortunately, many Christians have walked the aisle of this new religion, which was on full display with the 2016 and 2020 presidential elections with the evangelical drive to get someone in office that would protect “religious freedom” and fight for their causes. It’s as if a cry went up: “O, if we could just get a Christian into office or, at least one in there that will guarantee our freedom and fight for what we believe is important, then all will be well”. Of course, this cry goes back decades and is repeated every cycle. How many times has it been said that if only Christians ran the government, everything would be so much better? A doubtful proposition given the Old Covenant nature held by many (God, guns, gold [aka love of money], country, and a hell-fire gospel), along with the many ideologies of the world that have infected and added to this Old Covenant thinking, both from the right and from the left.

Politics, secularism, materialism, consumerism, and a host of ideological isms, together have become our nation’s savior. If Americans were honest with themselves, they would say they want the government to work properly so that none of this is jeopardized and they can continue with a hedonistic lifestyle, assuming they know what the word means. If you don’t think this is so, then consider why people are willing to mask up and get shot up with an experimental gene therapy with unknown long-term side-effects—aside from some not wanting to lose their job, they want to travel and be entertained through a variety of venues and gatherings. The new norm is to play roulette with one’s life so that one can have a “sense” of freedom, all the while actually being in bondage to governmental and medical tyranny that is wed to scientism and technocratism and the Global Reset.

Metaphorically, the nation has bitten into the apple of evil from the tree of knowledge. Unfortunately, many Christian churches, ministries, denominations, seminaries, bible schools, etc. have bitten into the same apple and allowed the world to infiltrate them. What many call the church has become a religious system rather than a relational life in the Lord. Just as the secularists are delusional (page 4) so are many who claim they are part of this religious system to which they have sworn allegiance.

This delusion runs throughout what are called faith leaders. As if to reenforce this delusion, as I was writing this, an article appeared online with the caption Church Leaders Speak “Pure Truth”. Without even knowing what the article is about, the term “pure truth” assigned to church leaders is a red flag indicating a hierarchy of power and control. The leaders of this particular “church”—that some in the mainline sector frown upon as if they aren’t Christian at all—have told their people to listen to the advice of church leaders, medical experts, and government officials, which includes urging people to get jabbed. O, but the mainlines aren’t exempt from this delusion of “pure truth” either. Leaders of mainline denominations have told their “members” that they do not support “religious exemptions” for opting out of the jabs. Why? Because this untested new technology is a gift from God. Some might think I am obsessed with this topic but not so. I bring it up often because it is one of the most dangerous and nefarious things to be foisted upon people in the history of the world and so-called faith leaders have fallen into its trap. To put it bluntly, they have been infected, not with covid, but with the spirit of the world.

Stepping back and looking at the whole picture, how did it get this way? It couldn't simply be from having faith in government and its supportive systems that have grown senile; like an old man shuffling around dazed and confused, not knowing where he is going and what he is saying.

As stated before, what's going on can be explained as a hybrid (like a hydra of many tentacles) that emanates from one ism called evilism. [I know it sounds a bit strange; nevertheless, it is a recognized word.] The spirit of the world feeds off evilism.

In the **Dark Force of Evilism**, I introduced The Vaccine Death Report as one way to look at evilism.

Now, I'd like to introduce another way to look at it from a book I recently read that offers another facet of this topic. Mind you; neither the report nor the book uses the word evilism; however, they both offer views that support it.

In his book, The Fool and His Enemy—Toward a Metaphysics of Evil, J.R. Nyquist describes a faith that has overtaken the US; he calls it the New Religion. I normally would not quote so much from another's book, for fear I misrepresent the author or am seen aligned with everything the author sees. Conversely, I don't want to imply they would agree with everything I offer either. However, in this case, I find JR's insight quite germane to things that I have been attempting to convey over the last few years—that is, overall, we speak some of the same language.

This is how he opens chapter 3, The New Religion, of his book:

“A new faith has appeared in our midst. It is secular and political. It is materialist and claims to be “scientific.” The New Religion denies the reality of spirit. Only matter exists, only solid objects are recognized. The soul—which directs, perceives, animates—is denied. God is denied. Divine order is denied. Immortality and afterlife are denied. The New Religion opens upon a cold realm of material cause and effect. The idea of something sacred, of something holy, is viewed with the utmost cynicism. Spirit itself is denounced with that same breath of spirit—a breath that denies breath.”

“The New Religion is against all religions. It subverts the Old Religion—infiltrates, corrupts, poisons, ridicules. At times it pretends to agree with ancient precepts, wearing a mask of conventional morality; but only, in fact, to devour the Old Religion at one sitting. It therefore advances in small steps. It joins the prayers of the Old Religion, enters into churches and takes control of seminaries and schools. It wages war on the level of ideas, yet ideas do not interest it. The New Religion does not seek truth. Its leading acolytes seek power. Their subversive war makes use of many causes.

These include abortion and sodomy, minority rights, global disarmament and environmentalism; each serves as a flanking action against existing structures which must be broken down:—the family, the church, the nation-state, property rights, motherhood, etc.”

Here are some excerpts from his concluding chapter.

“In terms of our understanding, we ought to seek higher ground; that is to say, spiritual ground. Only then can we find the way ahead, as intended by our Creator, in accordance with those spiritual realities which underlie our physical world. Today’s materialist rebellion readily denies all this. The revolutionary Marxists and their kindred have turned a deaf ear to the metalogic of divinity. They have not only captured our universities, they have poisoned our seminaries. They have brought their materialism and cynicism into the Church itself. By intentionally sowing moral confusion and error, by advancing a destructive credo, they have wrought perversion on every side. They have turned humanity against itself, in the name of humanity. Their confusions are many. Their utopian projects will fail, and various nations will be destroyed. This is perhaps the intention, after all. There are those who are filled with hate instead of love, who are filled with enmity instead of friendship, and they have politically organized themselves.”

One of JR’s closing statements sums it up this way: The ruling strata of civilization ... is now so thoroughly self-deceived that it has infected the whole society with false perspectives, false expectations and values incompatible with man’s real needs.” Ultimately, he posits that civilization will fall and a new civilization will be built on the ruins of the old.

This is as far as he takes his thesis and I agree with him. After all, I’ve been told *the structures will crumble*, which is another way to say civilization as we know it will fall. What he doesn’t do is bring it to the conclusion that I continually offer in my insights. Of course, there is no reason for him to do so, so this is not a criticism.

As I see it, JR brought man’s real needs to the spiritual door, so to speak, and now it is time for man to walk through the door, for man’s needs are met on the other side. So, I pick up where he left off.

By the way; The Vaccine Death Report concludes on a positive note with the closing headline: The Future is Ours. Sorensen and Zelenko declare it is time for Humanity to Rise Up!; it is time for the Great Awakening. This seems to be more of a secular awakening than a spiritual one; nevertheless, they too bring humanity to the door. Mankind truly does need to awaken, but this awakening is going to be spiritual, starting with the few until it infects the many. See: *Great Awakening of Our True Identity*.

Man's real needs are best summed up in one word, actually one name—Jesus.

Humanity needs to be conformed to the image of the Son of God, the one we know as the Lord Jesus, the Messiah, the King, the Anointed One, the one who holds the name of God. All our needs are met in Him and Him alone. He is the answer to every problem, every challenge, every situation that humanity struggles with in this day and in all the days to follow before God's reset—that began on September 21, 2021—is fully completed.

Jesus is life itself, and this is the greatest need of humanity. He explains it, manifests it, and gives it freely. He is the reality of life. He is love itself, and He is the greatest power to unite humanity, making us all truly one in spirit and in love. Do we want true peace? Then, it is discovered in the one who is the Prince of Peace. Do we want righteousness? Then, it is discovered in the one who is our Righteousness. Do we want to live with death no longer our enemy? Then, He is the one who has conquered death and now raises up humanity in the newness of His life, the new creation life in Him, where all things are new.

The list goes on, but the point is that there is nothing outside of Jesus; everything of value to God and thus to mankind is in Him.

Truly, a new civilization will be built on the ruins of the old. The new civilization is called the Kingdom of God or the Kingdom of our Lord and of His Christ or the Kingdom of the Son of God's love.

When all the dust settles, a new order, a divine order will rise up out of the ashes as the glory of the Lord begins to fill the earth as the waters cover the sea.

My dear brethren in King Jesus, the Day is approaching. The structures will most assuredly continue to crumble, we can count on it. Until all that can be shaken is shaken, we are called to testify of the Kingdom of our Lord—the Kingdom is God's divine order. It is the only order that will set all things right and usher in the true utopia that man has longed for and sought with his human flesh, which could never in a million years, literally, achieve a utopia that is good for all. All that man's natural flesh can do is achieve cycle after cycle of limited success followed by abject failure. This is all sinful flesh will ever produce.

For this reason, when we hear of Christians who expect Donald Trump or the Republican party to regain power and turn the nation back on course, we have to ask: Have they no spiritual vision? Have they no understanding of history and how it repeats itself over and over again? Don't they see they are like a dog chasing its own tail, never able to catch it? They are chasing after a dream from which they will never wake? Don't they see the only answer is God's divine order brought about through King Jesus?

Do they not know that the Lord our God is the salvation of not only America but of all the nations of the world?

The only way the cycle of mankind will be broken is through the Presence of the one who called forth light in the very beginning. And, the first step in this cycle breaker is for the Son of God to raise up many sons of glory, the Anointed company of believers who are filled to overflowing with His spirit. From their innermost being will flow rivers of living water; this water—that is spiritual life-giving water—will come forth as an upwelling of life and love and light. This first fruit company will make way for the open manifestation of the Kingdom of God and the arrival of King Jesus, the one who has inherited the nations and possesses the earth. He has the right of ownership and rulership over His creation and nothing can nor will stop Him from doing so.

The cross and the empty tomb—His death, resurrection, ascension, and glorification—seal His rights.

It takes revelation to see and comprehend this. Looking for another man to set things right over the United States or even the world reveals the great, great lack in many of those who profess to be Christians. It's expected of the world-at-large that rejects Jesus, but it should not be expected of His people.

We are not to be led by our flesh but by the spirit of the Lord. God's divine order comes through the spirit; it is in spirit—a holy temple in the Lord, a dwelling of God in spirit.

Consequently, it takes spiritual vision and discernment to look beyond the politics, secularism, and materialism of the day to recognize, as J.R. Nyquist calls it, the New Religion that denies the reality of the spirit!

Jesus is the Reality! He is God's divine order! God's Highest Order!

America and all the nations of the world—the Lord God whose name is JESUS is our salvation. King Jesus alone is the Rescuer of His very good creation.

The Door is wide open! It's time to walk through the one who is the Door and into LIFE!
