Massive Event is Coming (Word)

At the end of last year, I posted Habakkuk - Prophet for Today, where I wrote: Of all the prophets, I find Habakkuk the one who speaks to where we are in history, not predictively but in principle. You are encouraged to read (or: reread) the full text, for the message is just as significant, if not more so, ten months later.

Much like Lot whose soul was tormented day after day by lawless deeds he saw and heard, so was Habakkuk tormented, driving him to cry out to the Lord: How long? Why?

O LORD, how long shall I cry for help, and you will not hear? Or cry to you “Violence!” and you will not save? Why do you make me see iniquity [evil; troubles and griefs; lawlessness; injustice], and why do you idly look at wrong? Destruction and violence are before me; strife and contention arise. So, the law is paralyzed [ineffective; not enforced; ignored], and justice never goes forth. For the wicked surround the righteous; so justice goes forth perverted. (Habakkuk 1:2-4 ESV)

To be sure, there are a good number of us who share similar cries of torment over what we see, hear, and read each day. Will this crazy insanity ever end? Well, in time, it will. Until then, we must patiently endure, for the promise is—if we do, we will reign with the King of kings. So, let us endure as we patiently wait for the Lord. The light is shining, the door is open, the Anointing is rising up, the King is standing, the Son is coming, and the end of this age (literally, a new beginning) is in sight, when the world will be rescued as the Kingdom of the Son of God’s love bursts forth onto the world stage.

Keep in mind: we have been given the faith of the Son of God, the Author and Perfector of the faith, who for the joy set before Him endured the cross, despising its disgrace. Despising means one intensely dislikes something. So, we are in good company if we despise what is going on today. The righteous shall live by His faith—His faith looks beyond this wicked day to the glorious Day that is coming that will be pure joy. Faith sees the Lord Jesus coming through the Door (portal to God's realm) to transform us into the glory of His Body. Faith declares: King Jesus in me, the expectation of glory.

Just so you know; this is all lead-in for a word that came to me while I slept. However, before sharing it, a few more comments are in order to reinforce the above.

Frankly, given what I've seen in dreams and visions and been told in words over the last several decades that I believe have come from the Lord, I'm often left crying out to the Lord what to do with all of this. Do I share them or keep them to myself? A few years back, the answer took shape—it is to be shared as an encouragement to the saints—this is God's appointed time that will bring this age to its rightful conclusion and nothing will stop Him from fulfilling His purpose. In His love for us, He wants us to know the signs (or: signposts), both good and bad, along the metaphorical highway leading to the manifestation of His Kingdom. The aim of knowing that these things are coming and seeing them happen is to strengthen us in the faith of Jesus—His enduring faith. Like our Lord, we are to patiently endure to the end, being fully expectant that the joy of the Kingdom is just ahead—be patient.

These signs (signposts) are not happenstances of history but signs of the appointed time. Again, the signs might be gloriously good or they might be horrendously bad. Don't lose focus over the bad and definitely don't lose faith over them—they are merely signs and not things to make into eschatological doctrines, ministries, theories, ideologies, fuel for fear and panic over what they might mean to us personally, or whatever our imagination might want them to be. Do not fear; don't be afraid! Stand firm in His faith! After all, in the end, His faith brought Him through the cross and, at this very moment, He reigns in glory.

The message to us who belong to the Lord Jesus is not in the signs themselves; after all, they are only signs. The message is in what lies at the end of the highway—namely, the open manifestation (for the world to recognize) of the Kingdom of God with King Jesus seated upon His throne with His conquerors reigning with Him upon His throne. His throne is not about an ornate, physical seat that earthly kings sit upon—it signifies His reign as King of heaven and earth. The good news is that He does not reign alone, for His conquerors reign (even now) with Him as His consort Queen. Let us not lose sight of these truths.

“The one who is conquering, to him will I be granting to be seated with Me on My throne as I, also, conquer, and am seated with My Father on His throne.” (Revelation 3:21 CLV)

Now, all this is said in order to share a word that woke me from sleep at 12.17 am on October 3, 2021.

A massive event is coming. Watch and you will see it build. Warn of its arrival.

Hearing the word massive in the night is a first for me, making it rather unusual. So, it definitely got my attention. Warning of its arrival means what is coming is not good. One thing I do is keep a watchful eye on the news and headlines that might go along with a new word. Well, I wasn't disappointed, for the very next day, on October 4, 2021, a headline appeared on the net that caught my attention (at least part of it did): Massive Health Scare.

I was going to reference the commentary that explained this headline but, upon further investigation, I decided not to do so. What is often called the alt-media has done a great service in investigating topics the mainstream media either censors, propagandizes, or ignores completely, but the alt-media is not immune from resorting to some hyperbole to get attention. The commentary supporting the headline does just this, in spite of offering some decent insight. Given this, it's best to simply stick with the headline, for, on its own, it ties in with the word that came to me. Coincidence or confirmation from the Lord?

All would agree that the world has lived through (and continues to do so) a massive health scare. However, does this new word indicate a more dangerous health scare is coming, perhaps even more massive? Pandemic 2.0? After all, some of the ruling class, including the US president, have declared another pandemic is coming, as if sooner than later, so we must act now (of course, keep living in fear). Or, is there something else coming? Financial-economic crash? Supply-chain breakdown? Food shortages? Famine? Natural catastrophe?

It has become more than obvious that, for the first 21 years of the 21st century, something has been building similar to a crescendo in a great musical score. It has been getting louder and more intense with each passing year but hasn't yet reached its highest pitch. Perhaps, what is coming could be likened to the climax of a perfect storm (see page 6 of this link for explanation), or the overflowing or exploding of a boiling pot.

Some of this buildup has been documented in 21-Year Cycle 2000-2021 (2019 post), and what has been posted during 2020 up to now pretty much makes the case proposed in the 2019 post. As noted, every seven years of this 21-year period has been punctuated with fear, and in 2021, we are witnessing how powerful this fear has been, to the point of creating a global psychosis that has put many under a spell, leading to a deranged breakdown of logic and reason in lockstep with the rise of a global, authoritarian, tyrannical lawlessness on the part of many leaders, their followers, and the bureaucratic institutions they control.

These are not normal times, nor are they simply strange times (expressions people use to describe this day), nor are they some repeat of other modern events. Recently, someone likened this day to the 1970s. I lived through those days and can attest that there is no comparison to what is transpiring in our day. Strange how some try to normalize even what could be called the most extremely abnormal by linking it to another time. Without any doubt whatsoever, we are living through a very unique time in the history of mankind.

Like Habakkuk, those with spiritual discernment can sense something massive coming. Habakkuk gives us encouragement, even as we have vision of impending disaster. We can feel it, even if we don't know exactly what it is. Until now, I had been given no insight as to what will transpire beyond 2021—looks like part of the answer has now come with this word about the coming of a massive event. But what could it be?

There are so many things happening in the world right now (caused by the pandemic or in addition to it), or on the verge of happening, that it is a challenge to say what this massive event is and where it might manifest. Keep in mind: massive refers to something large or imposing, as in quantity, scope, degree, intensity, or scale. Surely, something affecting the entire globe system would be massive. Is the world facing a worst-case scenario in which the entire global system totally collapses? Could this be the culmination of all the global structures crumbling? There are two metaphors that come to mind. First, all the elements of the system are swirling around in a mighty vortex, like water getting ready to go down a dark drain, out of sight forever. In this context, a vortex is a situation that draws into its center all that surrounds it, and hence being inescapable or destructive. The center of the vortex is where everything is brought to an inescapable destruction. Second, the global system could be likened to a train barreling down a track toward the cliff of a canyon where there is no bridge across it, where climactic destruction awaits.

This will be scary to some, but could the center of the vortex be WW3? Some say WW3 was the Cold War and we're headed for WW4. Of course, others say practically every major crisis is a war over something. I was told WW3 began in 2015—covertly it did. However, the war clouds are overtly building. Will they become so dark that a kinetic nuclear war will break out? Some say that it will never happen because the risks are too high. There was a time when nuclear weapons were seen as deterrents based on mutual destruction. That was then, but it is not now. Why are all the superpowers gearing up for war with their new high-tech, highly destructive weaponry, no longer citing deterrence as the reason? All it takes is one delusional (or: demented) national leader—believing their country could survive or win a kinetic war—to push a button to start the dominoes falling, leading to a global confrontation—a massive event.

Yes; it all sounds so scary. But I've been told to warn the people for a reason. So, I will. To be sure, there will be signs of this massive event as it builds its way to a climax. (Caveat: we must not rule out a massive natural cataclysmic event—either alone, as a trigger point, or in concert with the rest.) In my view, we just entered a ten-year window, give or take.

Stay tuned! Seek the Lord for what, if anything, you must do to prepare for the days ahead. But remember, our greatest preparation is to know the Lord—to know Him as our Trust! Do not fear! This earth belongs to Jesus and He will come to its rescue. The King is standing at the Door!
